

Do you need support during the Coronavirus?

The Centre for Youth & Criminal Justice is here to help

We appreciate that this is an unprecedented and challenging time for everyone, especially if you are working with children who are in conflict with the law (or at risk of being so).

Practitioners and managers have shared their concerns, issues and experiences with us around how they can continue to support children and maintain their care, safety, health and wellbeing, whilst often struggling to access support themselves.

At CYCJ, we are keen to do what we can to help, and are offering our services and resources to anyone who might need them, to the best of our current capabilities. This is available to all frontline workers, residential staff and managers.

Providing advice and support

Our multi-disciplinary practice development team can assist with a wide variety of areas, including:

- Dealing with day to day working during this time
- Supporting staff
- Supporting managers
- Children whose behaviour poses a risk of harm
- Case consultation
- Providing a reflective and safe space

Bringing you the latest information

To ensure you have the most up to date information available in one place, we have produced a review that documents CYCJ's analysis of the issues and collates concerns and experiences shared with us. This report is being updated on an ongoing basis, to reflect all changes in policy and legislation. We're also continuing to add to our information on the measures put in place by stakeholder organisations to best support people during the Coronavirus. This includes links to mental health support and resources.

Get in touch today

To discuss the support we can provide, whether via a phone call, Skype or a Zoom meeting, please contact the team on 0141 444 8700 / cycj@strath.ac.uk. If you have concerns and issues relating to child protection or looked after children, please check out the CELCIS website or get in touch with the team at 0141 444 8500 / celcis@strath.ac.uk.

Find out more at www.cycj.org.uk. You can also follow us on Twitter @CYCJScotland.