

Postgraduate Certificate on Children and Young People in Conflict with the Law: Funded Placement Opportunity

The Children and Young People's Centre for Justice (CYCJ) is offering one fully funded place on its Postgraduate Certificate course, commencing in January 2023. This is open to people of all ages who have experience of the justice system. It will cover the full course cost of £2,433.

The scholarship is supported by The Lady Eileen McDonald Fund, which supports and celebrates exceptional students and student-centred initiatives at the University of Strathclyde.

Who are we looking for?

This scholarship is available to someone with experience of the justice system who would like to help improve how we do justice in Scotland. You may have completed a custodial sentence, been in police custody or received a caution. It could also include involvement with the Children's Hearing System, through being in conflict with the law. This all counts towards being what we define as 'justice experienced'.

You'll be required to have a relevant undergraduate degree or professional qualification and demonstrate capacity for postgraduate study

How do I apply?

If you are interested, please apply through the University course webpage, specifying that you would like to be considered for the scholarship. Closing date for applications is 31/10/22. Email cycj@strath.ac.uk to find out more.
